Protect Your Phone System!

Is your most vital business communication tool at risk?

Have you thought about your systems vulnerability? Do you have a plan for a potential hack or virus on your phone system? Telrad's newest software release of SIPProt includes a patch for the most recent security issue with System Hackers and the newest virus Bash, which is distributed as the default shell for operating systems like Linux. The Telrad VisionIP System, much like most current IP Platforms, is based on Linux. VISIONware is affected by this bug, in the Setup Wizard, and when malicious users access your 'root' credentials. Protection is key to preventing downtime, interruption to your business operations and unnecessary costs.

Telrad is selling its most recent level of SIP Prot Software License this month due to the increasing incidents of attacks.

The price of the Software License includes Onsite Installation and scan of your system.

This Software release will also include the newest Bash Bug Patch; to protect your Phone System from this malicious bug.

This License will be valid for 1 Year from date of Activation.
